Dear Friends,

Fifteen years of partnerships for the sake of children and our collective future – that is something to celebrate! In addition to serving over 1,100 children at 17 Freedom Schools, 2018 was highlighted with celebrations to recognize and thank the many partners, volunteers, supporters and college students who helped create this movement that began with one Freedom School in 2004. While there is much still to be done, we are hopeful about the bright futures of our scholars. These bright futures are possible because of all who join us to promote the long-term success of children.

In 2018, we welcomed new partners and locations at Martin Luther King, Jr. Middle School, serving scholars from the Hidden Valley neighborhood, and Renaissance West STEAM Academy, serving scholars along the West Boulevard corridor.

All across the city, FSP scholars enjoyed more than three hours of literacy engagement each day, participated in field trips for fun and cultural enrichment, and built unforgettable relationships with college student Servant Leader Interns and a variety of community volunteers. Check out these numbers for the summer of 2018:

- 140 Servant Leader Interns representing 36 colleges and universities were hired and trained
- 2,133 volunteers from over 21 community partners engaged with Freedom School scholars
- More than 80% of all Freedom School scholars gained or maintained in their reading ability, this compares to a typical loss of 2-3 months
- 68% of parents volunteered and participated in parent engagement workshops

And that’s just scratching the surface! One of the most significant developments of 2018 was the $1.25 Million investment from Albemarle Foundation and Bank of America to advance work of Freedom School Partners’ strategic plan which was created in 2016. Over the next five years, we will use this gift to serve more scholars, improve organization infrastructure, and expand partner engagement and secondary scholar initiatives.

During the 15th Anniversary Celebration with Children’s Defense Fund Founder, Marian Wright Edelman, and former mayor, Harvey B. Gantt, Mrs. Edelman said, “You can change things and you can make a difference ... and I think our children are going to be our best spokespeople.” Since 2004, 30 former scholars have returned to Freedom School Partners as college students to work as Servant Leader Interns. That number is a testament to this community and the people who believe in the children of Charlotte-Mecklenburg.

As your partner, we will continue to focus on our core mission to “promote the long-term success of children by preventing summer learning loss through igniting a passion for reading and inspiring a love of learning.” None of this would be possible without the volunteer and financial support of the Charlotte community.

Thank you!

OUR MISSION

Freedom School Partners promotes the long-term success of children by preventing summer learning loss through igniting a passion for reading and inspiring a love of learning.

Freedom School Partners fulfills this mission by:

1. Delivering a culturally diverse curriculum that affirms our scholars with engaging literature and exposure to the broader community.

2. Serving families and children who lack access to quality summer enrichment opportunities.

3. Addressing the whole child by supporting their academic, social and emotional needs.

4. Offering a work-force development opportunity for college students to gain professional experience, serve as positive role models and enter the teacher pipeline or social service pipeline.

5. Collaborating with diverse community stakeholders who contribute to and benefit from the partnerships.

Arianna Cooper — Age 7

When asked what she wants to be when she grows up, Arianna smiles and says, “a teacher.” Some of her favorite parts about Freedom School are the food, field trips and fun. What also stands out is her college Servant Leader Intern (SLI), Mr. Jaire.

Mr. Jaire, a sophomore Social Work student at North Carolina A&T State University, said Arianna’s growth was amazing. “She was eager to learn, helped me around my classroom and was excited to come to Freedom School each day. My scholars really made me feel that I made a difference,” said Mr. Jaire. Beyond the joy of reading and learning, Mr. Jaire said he taught his scholars to be themselves. “Life is about learning and having fun, and I encouraged my scholars to continue to strive for success and continue to read!”

Arianna not only learned to read at Freedom School, she learned to love to read. “Reading makes me feel happy because it tells me about events and stories and what happens in real life,” said Arianna. “At Freedom School I also learned to be kind, honest and thankful and to be respectful to others.”

Our History

2000-2003
Freedom School Partners (formerly Seigle Avenue Partners) received start-up funding from Foundation For the Carolinas' Building Youth Initiative and Seigle Avenue Presbyterian Church.

2004
Freedom School Partners (FSP) was selected by the Children's Defense Fund (CDF) to join community organizations around the country and serve as a local sponsor for CDF’s six-week, literacy-rich summer program called Freedom Schools. That year, in addition to maintaining its successful afterschool program in the Piedmont Courts neighborhood, FSP launched its first CDF Freedom Schools® program for 100 students.

2004-present
Freedom School Partners has developed a model of partnership with community organizations to expand Freedom Schools across Charlotte. Site partnerships have included a variety of faith-based organizations, corporations, universities, neighborhoods, and other community organizations.
